[The court grants Defendants' Constructive Discharge Motion with regard to the NIED claim, but denies the motion with respect to all remaining claims. With respect to Defendants' Actual Discharge Motion, the court grants Defendants' motion with regard to the NIED claims and repatriation damage claims, and limits Alziam's damages because of after-acquired evidence. In all other respects, the Actual Discharge Motion is denied. The court denies the EEOC's counter motion for summary judgment and both of Defendants' motions for Rule 11 sanctions. All joinders are terminated consistent with this order, and the EEOC's request to strike, Doc. No. 263, is itself stricken. This order leaves for future adjudication all Title VII and § 1981 claims, as well as Haw. Rev. Stat. § 378-2 claims and IIED claims.]Associated Cases: 1:06-cv-00451-SOM-BMK, 1:07-cv-00372-SOM-BMK(emt,) (Entered: 02/20/2008)

03/11/2008	326	EO: In reviewing the defense reconsideration motion, the court notes that it was filed more than 10 business days from the filing of the underlying order. If Defendants contend that their reconsideration motion was timely filed, they must file an explanation of timeliness. That explanation shall be no more than 350 words and shall be filed no later than 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 12, 2008. If Defendants conclude that their reconsideration motion was untimely, they may withdraw their reconsideration motion or file a motion to extend the time in which to seek reconsideration. 03/17/2008	331	EO: Defendants' reconsideration motion was untimely filed more than 10 days after the underlying order was filed. Defendants' argument that it is entitled to 3 additional days based on Fed. R. Civ. P. 6 is unpersuasive, as that rule permits an additional 3 days only when a deadline is calculated based on service, not filing. The reconsideration deadline clearly runs from the filing of the underlying order, not its service. However, this court grants Defendants' request to extend the time for filing their reconsideration motion. Plaintiffs are not prejudiced by Defendants' untimely filing, and the parties are, in any event, scheduled to be before the court for a hearing on another matter on April 21, 2008, at 10:30 a.m. Defendants' reconsideration motion is set for hearing at the same time, with opposition and reply memoranda concerning the reconsideration motion due in the ordinary course under Local Rule 7.4.
