12/10/2010	104	ORDER, the Court hereby enjoins Sterling from proceeding with the individual arbitrations until after oral argument is presented to the Court of Appeals on January 11, 2011. Despite the AAA's assurances that it will abide by the terms of any court order, see supra, nonetheless, given Sterling's claim that an order enjoining Sterling would not necessarily be binding on the AAA, see Def. Mem. at 3 n. 11, the Court, out of an abundance of caution, also temporarily restrains the AAA from proceeding with the administration of the individual arbitrations, but gives the AAA, if it disagrees with that injunction, the opportunity to contest it by submitting opposition papers to the Court by no later than December 23, 2010, to which the plaintiffs may respond by papers submitted no later than January 7, 2011. The parties are directed to immediately furnish the FAA with a copy of this Memorandum Order and to keep the Court apprised of any material developments in this matter in any of the pertinent fora. 11/16/2015	144	OPINION AND ORDER re: 135 MOTION to Vacate The Arbitrator's Class Determination Award , filed by Sterling Jewelers, Inc. The Court is not unmindful of the high standard for vacating an arbitration award. But deference to arbitrators is not without its limits; and the Court declines to hold that a ruling lacking "barely colorable justification" in black-letter law or common sense must be upheld purely because it issued from an arbitrator's pen. The Court therefore grants Sterling's motion to vacate the Arbitrator's class determination award to the extent that it permits individuals to opt out of a class certified for the purposes of seeking classwide injunctive and declaratory relief. In all other respects, the award is confirmed. The Clerk of Court is directed to close docket number 136. (As further set forth in this Order.) (Signed by Judge Jed S. Rakoff on 11/15/2015) (spo) (Entered: 11/16/2015)

01/16/2018	168	OPINION AND ORDER re: 162 MOTION to Vacate the Arbitrator's Class Determination Award . filed by Sterling Jewelers, Inc. The Court finds that the Arbitrator may not so bind non-parties to class action procedures where, as here, the Court has determined that the arbitration agreement does not, in fact, permit class action procedures. Therefore the Court finds that the Arbitrator here had no authority to decide whether the RESOLVE agreement permitted class action procedures for anyone other than the named parties who chose to present her with that question and those other individuals who chose to opt in to the proceeding before her. See Granite Rock, 561 U.S. at 299; see also Porzig v. Dresdner, Kleinwort, Benson, N. Am. LLC, 497 F.3d 133, 140-41 (2d Cir. 2007). As the arbitrator exceeded her powers, see Porzig, 497 F.3d at 140 (an arbitrator exceeds her powers when she "goes beyond [the] self-limiting agreement between consenting parties"), the Court grants Sterling's motion to vacate the February 2, 2015 Award in so far as that Award certifies a class that includes individuals who have not affirmatively opted in to the arbitral proceedings. 11/18/2019	172	USCA OPINION (Certified) as to 169 Notice of Appeal, filed by Leighla Smith, Maria House, Marie Wolf, Lisa McConnell, Judy Reed, Dawn Souto-Coons, Nina Shahmirzadi, Christy Chadwick, Linda Rhodes, Laryssa Jock, Denise Maddox, Gloria Pagan. USCA Case Number 18-153. The arbitrator certified a class of Sterling Jewelers Inc. employees that included employees who did not affirmatively opt in to the arbitration proceeding. The District Court held that the arbitrator exceeded her authority in purporting to bind those absent class members to class arbitration because the arbitrator erred in determining that the arbitration agreement permits class arbitration. We hold that the arbitrator was within her authority in purporting to bind the absent class members to class proceedings because, by signing the operative arbitration agreement, the absent class members, no less than the parties, bargained for the arbitrator's construction of their agreement with respect to class arbitrability. We therefore reverse the judgment of the District Court. Because the issue of whether the arbitrator exceeded her authority in certifying an opt-out, as opposed to a mandatory, class is not before us in this appeal, we remand the case to the District Court to reexamine that issue in the first instance.
