Having allowed the Petition for Habeas Corpus, the court orders as follows: 1. Petitioner will receive a bond hearing by February 7, 2014, before an Immigration Judge, at which the judge will consider whether conditions may be placed upon Petitioners release that will reasonably ensure that he will pose no danger to the community and will not pose a risk of flight. If such conditions are found to exist, Petitioner will be released from custody. 2. Counsel for Respondents will report to this court on or before February 14, 2014, regarding compliance with this order. This report will include notification as to the outcome of the bond hearing. 3. Failure of an Immigration Judge to conduct the bond hearing as ordered will entitle Petitioner to request a bond hearing before this court. It is So Ordered. See the attached memo and order for complete details. (Lindsay, Maurice) (Entered: 01/09/2014)

ORDER

Plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment is ALLOWED IN PART and DENIED IN PART (Docket No. 453), and the Government's motion for summary judgment is ALLOWED IN PART and DENIED IN PART (Docket No. 455). The Court denies Plaintiffs' request for a permanent injunction ordering the Government to provide class members with bond or reasonableness hearings. The Court also denies Plaintiffs' request for a declaratory judgment insofar as they seek a declaration that due process requires an automatic bond hearing or reasonableness hearing for all criminal aliens detained under § 1226(c) for more than six months.

DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

The Court declares that mandatory detention without a bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c) violates due process when the detention becomes unreasonably prolonged in relation to its purpose in ensuring the removal of deportable criminal aliens. The most important factor in determining the reasonableness of a criminal alien's mandatory detention is the length of the detention. Mandatory detention without a bond hearing is likely to be unreasonable if it lasts for more than one year, excluding any delays due to the alien's dilatory tactics. A criminal alien subject to mandatory detention without a bond hearing under § 1226(c) must bring a habeas petition in federal court to challenge his detention as unreasonably prolonged. If the court agrees, the alien is entitled to a bond hearing before an immigration judge.

PERMANENT INJUNCTION

For any bond hearing held for a class member, the Court orders that the immigration court require the Government to prove that the alien is either dangerous by clear and convincing evidence or a risk of flight by a preponderance of the evidence. The immigration court may not impose excessive bail, must evaluate the alien's ability to pay in setting bond, and must consider alternative conditions of release such as GPS monitoring that reasonably assure the safety of the community and the alien's future appearances.

The Court orders that this declaratory judgment and permanent injunction be provided to all members of the class within thirty days and shall be provided to any new members of the class when their § 1226(c) detention exceeds six months.

SO ORDERED.
