

In The Supreme Court of the United States

—◆—
DONALD J. TRUMP, ET AL.,

Petitioners,

v.

INTERNATIONAL REFUGEE
ASSISTANCE PROJECT, ET AL.,

Respondents.

—◆—
DONALD J. TRUMP, ET AL.,

Petitioners,

v.

STATE OF HAWAII, ET AL.,

Respondents.

—◆—
On Writs Of Certiorari To The United States Courts Of Appeals For The Fourth And Ninth Circuits

—◆—
BRIEF OF AMICI CURIAE
CIVIL RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS IN SUPPORT OF RESPONDENTS

—◆—
LYNNE BERNABEI

Counsel of Record for Amici Curiae

ALAN R. KABAT

BERNABEI & KABAT, PLLC

1400 – 16th Street N.W., Suite 500

Washington, D.C. 20036-2223

(202) 745-1942

Bernabei@bernabeipllc.com

Kabat@bernabeipllc.com

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
INTERESTS OF AMICI CURIAE	1
SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT	6
ARGUMENT	7
Social Categorization and Stereotyping Creates Dangerous Conditions for Members of Minority Groups	7
A. Stereotyping Minority Groups Creates a Climate for Discrimination	7
B. The Executive Order Is the Product of Centuries of Discriminatory Stereotypes About Muslims.....	10
C. The Executive Order Is Based on Stereotypes About Muslims as “Anti-American” and “Terrorists.”	15
D. Government Legitimization of Muslim Stereotypes Has Encouraged Violence Against Muslims, and Inhibited Millions of Muslims in the Practice of Their Religion.....	20
1. Government Stereotyping Leads to Violence and Discrimination	21
2. The President’s Statements Have Encouraged Violence	22
3. Stereotyping and Discrimination Harms All Americans, Not Just Those Directly Affected by Specific Acts.....	26
CONCLUSION.....	28

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

Page

CASES

Ahmed v. Johnson , 752 F.3d 490 (1st Cir. 2014)	9
Aziz v. Trump , 234 F. Supp. 3d 724 (E.D. Va. 2017).....	18
Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka , 347 U.S. 483 (1954)	2, 10
City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Ctr. , 473 U.S. 432 (1985)	8, 21
Griggs v. Duke Power Co. , 401 U.S. 424 (1971)	8, 9
Hassan v. City of New York , 804 F.3d 277 (3d Cir. 2015)	9
Int’l Refugee Assistance Project v. Trump , 857 F.3d 554 (4th Cir. 2017).....	15
Loving v. Virginia , 388 U.S. 1 (1967)	10
Lynch v. Donnelly , 465 U.S. 668 (1984)	22
Miller-El v. Dretke , 545 U.S. 231 (2005)	8
Palmore v. Sidoti , 466 U.S. 429 (1984)	21
Price Waterhouse v. Hopkins , 490 U.S. 228 (1989)	8
Reynolds v. City of Chicago , 296 F.3d 524 (7th Cir. 2002).....	9

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

Page

Santa Fe Indep. School Dist. v. Doe , 530 U.S. 290 (2000)	21
Texas Dep’t of Hous. & Cmty. Affairs v. Inclusive Communities Project, Inc. , 135 S. Ct. 2507 (2015)	8
Thomas v. Eastman Kodak Co. , 183 F.3d 38 (1st Cir. 1999)	9
United States v. Stephens , 421 F.3d 503 (7th Cir. 2005).....	9
Whole Woman’s Health v. Hellerstedt , 136 S. Ct. 2292 (2016)	3

STATUTES

Civil Rights Act of 1991, Pub. L. No. 102-166, 105 Stat. 1075	8
--	---

RULES

Sup. Ct. R. 37.3(a)	1
Sup. Ct. R. 37.6	1

OTHER AUTHORITIES

158 CONG. REC. S5106 (daily ed. July 18, 2012) (statement of Sen. John McCain)	27
Abigail Hauslohner, Anti-Muslim Discrimination on Rise in U.S., Study Finds , WASHINGTON POST, July 26, 2017.....	19

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

Page

Albert Samaha & Talal Ansari, Four Mosques Have Burned in Seven Weeks – Leaving Many Muslims and Advocates Stunned , BUZZFEEDNEWS (Feb. 28, 2017)	24
Anonymous, 2nd Florida Mosque Hit by Arson in Past 6 Months , ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, Feb. 25, 2017	24
Anonymous, Fire Destroys Texas Mosque in Early Hours , N.Y. TIMES, Jan. 29, 2017	24
Audra D. S. Burch, Facing a Void Left by Hate , N.Y. TIMES, July 9, 2017	23
Barbara Perry, Anti-Muslim Violence in the Post-9/11 Era: Motive Forces , 4 HATE CRIMES 172 (Barbara Perry & Randy Blazak, eds. 2009)	12, 13
Carol Izumi, Implicit Bias and the Illusion of Mediator Neutrality , 34 WASH. U. J. L. & POL. 71 (2010)	20
Christine Wang, “Trump Website Takes Down Muslim Ban Statement After Reporter Grills Spicer in Briefing,” CNBC.COM (May 8, 2017)	15
Cleve R. Wootson, Sikh Man, 39, Shot in Suspected Hate Crime , WASH. POST, Mar. 5, 2017	25
Darweesh v. Trump , No. 1:17-cv-00480, Temporary Restraining Order, 2017 WL 388504 (E.D.N.Y. Jan. 28, 2017)	17

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

Page

Ellen Barry, U.S. and Indian Officials Condemn Shooting of Sikh , N.Y. TIMES, Mar. 6, 2017	25
Erik Love, ISLAMOPHOBIA AND RACISM IN AMERICA (2017)	11
Executive Order 13,769, “Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States.” 82 FED. REG. 8977 (Feb. 1, 2017) ...	17, 18, 24
Executive Order 13,780, “Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States.” 82 FED. REG. 13,209 (Mar. 9, 2017)	6, 18
HEARINGS BEFORE COMMITTEE ON IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, 61st Cong. 383 (1910) (statement of Rep. John L. Burnett, Alabama)	12
Jack McDevitt, et al., Consequences for Victims: A Comparison of Bias- and Non-Bias-Motivated Assaults , 45 AM. BEHAVIORAL SCIENTIST 697 (2001)	26
Jack Moore, Trump’s Failure to Condemn Minnesota Mosque Attacks Stirs Social Media Anger , NEWSWEEK (Aug. 17, 2017)	16
Jane Onyanga-Omara, British PM Criticizes Trump’s Travel Ban; Theresa May Calls Controversial Move “Divisive and Wrong,” USA TODAY, Feb. 2, 2017	17
Jeffrey L. Thomas, SCAPEGOATING ISLAM: INTOLERANCE, SECURITY, AND THE AMERICAN MUSLIM (2015)	11, 27

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

Page

Jennifer Couzin-Frankel, Battling Bias: How Can We Blunt Prejudice Against Immigrants? , 350 SCIENCE 687 (May 19, 2017).....	19
Jeremy Diamond, Donald Trump: Ban all Muslim Travel to United States , CNN POLITICS (Dec. 8, 2015)	16
Jill Colvin and Steve Peoples, “Trump’s First TV Ad Pushes Proposal to Ban Muslims from Entering U.S.” , THE GLOBE AND MAIL (TORONTO), Jan. 5, 2016.....	16
John Eligon, et al., Drinks at a Bar, Ethnic Insults, then Gunshots , N.Y. TIMES, Feb. 25, 2017	23
Kurtis Lee, U.S. Muslims on Edge after Bombing; the FBI Is Leading the Investigation into an Attack that Damaged a Minnesota Mosque , L.A. TIMES, Aug. 6, 2017	25
Matt Stevens, Justice Dept. Calls Killing in Kansas a Hate Crime , N.Y. TIMES, June 10, 2017	23
N.Y. TIMES, Transcript: Donald Trump’s Foreign Policy Speech (Apr. 27, 2016)	16
Nick Corasaniti, Minnesota Mosque Shaken by an Early-Morning Blast , N.Y. TIMES, Aug. 6, 2017	25

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

	Page
Peter Gottschalk & Gabriel Greenberg, Common Heritage, Uncommon Fear: Islamophobia in the United States and British India, 1687-1947 , in ISLAMOPHOBIA IN AMERICA: THE ANATOMY OF INTOLERANCE (Carl W. Ernst ed. 2013)	11
Pew Research Center, Global Attitudes Project, Muslim-Western Tensions Persist (July 21, 2011)	19
Pew Research Center, U.S. Muslims Concerned About Their Place in Society, but Continue to Believe in the American Dream (July 26, 2017)	19
Richard H. Thaler & Cass R. Sunstein, NUDGE: IMPROVING DECISIONS ABOUT HEALTH, WEALTH, AND HAPPINESS (2008).....	10
Robert J. Allison, THE CRESCENT OBSCURED: THE UNITED STATES AND THE MUSLIM WORLD 1776-1815 (1995).....	11
Sahar F. Aziz, Losing the “War of Ideas”: A Critique of Countering Violent Extremism Programs , 52 TEXAS INT’L L.J. 255 (2017)	13, 14
Sandra Graham & Brian S. Lowery, Priming Unconscious Racial Stereotypes about Adolescent Offenders , 28 L. & HUM. BEHAV. 483 (2004)	10

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

	Page
Sheryll Cashin, To Be Muslim or Muslim-Looking in America: A Comparative Exploration of Racial and Religious Prejudice in the 21st Century , 2 DUKE FORUM L. & SOC. CHANGE 125 (2010).....	13
Stanley Milgram, Behavioral Study of Obedience , 67 J. ABNORMAL & SOC. PSYCHOL. 371 (1963).....	10
Susan T. Fiske, et al. , Policy Forum: Why Ordinary People Torture Enemy Prisoners , 206 SCIENCE 1482-83 (Nov. 26, 2004).....	20
Taylor Goldenstein, Blaze Completely Destroys Islamic Center’s Building , AUSTIN AMERICAN-STATESMAN, Jan. 8, 2017	24
Thomas S. Kidd, “ Is It Worse to Follow Mahomet than the Devil? ” Early American Uses of Islam , 72 CHURCH HISTORY 766 (2003)	11
Thomas S. Kidd, AMERICAN CHRISTIANS AND ISLAM: EVANGELICAL CULTURE AND MUSLIMS FROM THE COLONIAL PERIOD TO THE AGE OF TERRORISM (2009)	11
Todd H. Green, THE FEAR OF ISLAM: AN INTRODUCTION TO ISLAMOPHOBIA IN THE WEST (2015).....	14
Tony Marrero, Mosque Fire Deliberately Set , TAMPA BAY TIMES, Feb. 25, 2017.....	24
Tootkaboni v. Trump , No. 1:17-cv-10154, Temporary Restraining Order, 2017 WL 386550 (D. Mass. Jan. 29, 2017)	17

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES – Continued

	Page
U.S. Attorney’s Office, Southern District of Texas, Victoria Man Charged with Hate Crime in Burning of Mosque (June 22, 2017)	24
U.S. Dep’t of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics, Special Report, HATE CRIME VICTIMIZATION, 2004-2015 (2017)	14
U.S. Dep’t of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics, Special Report, HATE CRIMES REPORTED BY VICTIMS AND POLICE (2005).....	14
United States v. Perez , No. 6:17-cr-00035, Superseding Indictment (S.D. Tex. June 22, 2017)	24
United States v. Purinton , No. 2:17-cr-20028, Indictment (D. Kan. June 9, 2017)	23
Washington v. Trump , No. 2:17-cv-141, Temporary Restraining Order, 2017 WL 462040 (W.D. Wash. Feb. 3, 2017), motion for stay denied , 847 F.3d 1151 (9th Cir. 2017)	17

INTERESTS OF AMICI CURIAE

Amici, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Advocates for Youth, Center for Reproductive Rights, Chicago Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, Judge David L. Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law, Mississippi Center for Justice, National Center for Lesbian Rights, National Urban League, Southern Coalition for Social Justice, and Washington Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights and Urban Affairs, are national and regional civil rights groups interested in the promotion of civil liberties throughout the country, and the elimination of discrimination in any form.¹

1. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is the nation's largest and oldest civil rights grassroots organization. Since its founding in 1909, the mission of the NAACP has been to ensure the political, educational, social, and economic equality of all persons and to eliminate race-based discrimination. The NAACP has fought in the courts for decades to protect the guarantee of equal protection under law. To advance its mission, the NAACP has represented parties in landmark civil rights cases, perhaps most famously in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, 347 U.S. 483 (1954), which outlawed segregation in public schools. The NAACP also has filed numerous amicus briefs over its decades of existence in cases that significantly impact minority groups.

¹ Amici submit this brief pursuant to Sup. Ct. R. 37.3(a); all parties have consented to its filing. Pursuant to Sup. Ct. R. 37.6, amici submit that no counsel for any party participated in the authoring of this document, in whole or in part; no party or party's counsel contributed any money that was intended to fund preparation or submission of the brief; and no person, other than amici curiae, their members and their counsel, contributed money that was intended to fund preparation or submission of the brief.

2. The Advocates for Youth (Advocates) is a nonprofit organization that helps young people make informed and responsible decisions about their reproductive and sexual health. For more than three decades, Advocates has partnered with youth leaders, adult allies, and youth-serving organizations to advocate for effective adolescent reproductive and sexual health programs and policies. In 2017, Advocates launched the Muslim youth Leadership Council (MyLC). MyLC is a yearlong Leadership Council dedicated to bringing together young Muslim-identifying people in the United States and furthering their goals of becoming leaders within their communities and beyond. Each year MyLC recruits and trains 15-20 young people who advocate for the inclusion of young Muslim-identifying people in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of Reproductive Justice related programming and policies at the local, state, and federal levels.

3. The Center for Reproductive Rights (CRR) is a global human rights organization that uses the law to advance reproductive freedom as a fundamental right that all governments are legally obligated to respect, protect, and fulfill. In the United States, CRR's work focuses on ensuring that all people have access to a full range of high-quality reproductive health care.

Since its founding in 1992, CRR has been actively involved in nearly all major litigation in the U.S. concerning reproductive rights, in both state and federal courts, including most recently, serving as lead counsel for the plaintiffs in Whole Woman's Health v. Hellerstedt, 136 S. Ct. 2292 (2016). As a rights-based organization, the Center has a vital interest in protecting individuals who endeavor to exercise their fundamental rights free from unwarranted government intrusion and discrimination. CRR's ability to bring litigation challenging executive and regulatory action, and to seek relief where individuals are threatened with irreparable harm, is crucial to its mission.

4. The Chicago Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights (CLCCR) is a non-profit public interest law organization founded in 1969. CLCCR works to secure racial equity and economic opportunity for all. CLCCR provides legal representation through partnerships with the private bar, and collaborates with grassroots organizations and other advocacy groups to implement community-based solutions that advance civil rights. In all practice areas, including education equity, fair housing, economic opportunity, hate crime prevention, and voting rights, CLCCR advocates for immigrants who have been subject to racially-discriminatory governmental practices and policies. CLCCR's goal is to ensure that America fulfills its promise of democracy and equal justice for all.

5. The Judge David L. Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law is a national public interest organization founded in 1972 to advance the rights of individuals with mental disabilities. The Bazelon Center advocates for laws and policies that provide people with mental illness or intellectual disabilities the opportunities and resources they need to participate fully in their communities. Its litigation and policy advocacy is based on the Americans with Disabilities Act's guarantees of non-discrimination and reasonable accommodation. People with mental illness or intellectual disability commonly face discrimination based on myths and stereotypes, and the eradication of such discrimination is among the Bazelon Center's primary goals.

6. The Mississippi Center for Justice (MCJ) is a non-profit public interest law organization founded in 2003 in Jackson, Mississippi and committed to advancing racial and economic justice. Supported and staffed by attorneys and other professionals, the Center develops and pursues strategies to combat discrimination and poverty statewide. One of amicus' original areas of interest involved predatory loan practices directed at migrant poultry workers, and MCJ has remained concerned about the plight of Mississippi's growing immigrant population for the last decade, particularly in the areas of access to healthcare, education, housing, and fair lending.

7. The National Center for Lesbian Rights (NCLR) is a national non-profit legal organization dedicated to protecting and advancing the civil rights of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people and their families through litigation, public policy advocacy, and public education. Since its founding in 1977, NCLR has played a leading role in combating discrimination and securing fair and equal treatment for LGBT people and their families in cases across the country involving constitutional and civil rights. NCLR has a particular interest in protecting the rights of LGBT immigrants and other immigrants to this country. Since 1994, NCLR's Immigration Project has provided free legal assistance to thousands of LGBT immigrants nationwide through, among other services, direct representation of immigrants in impact cases and individual asylum cases and advocacy for immigration and asylum policy reform.

8. The National Urban League is a civil rights organization dedicated to the empowerment of African Americans to achieve economic parity and racial equality. Founded in 1910 and headquartered in New York City, the League improves the lives of more than two million people annually across the nation through direct service programs, including education, employment training and placement, housing, and health. The Urban League seeks to ensure our civil rights by actively working to eradicate all barriers to equal participation in all aspects of American society, whether political, economic, social, educational, or cultural.

9. The Southern Coalition for Social Justice is a non-profit public interest law organization founded in 2007 in Durham, North Carolina. SCSJ partners with communities of color and economically disadvantaged communities in the south to advance their political, social, and economic rights through the combination of legal advocacy, research, organizing, and communications. Originally, one of the SCSJ's primary practice areas was immigrants' rights, which remains important to its mission. SCSJ frequently advocates on behalf of immigrants who have been subject to racially-discriminatory governmental practices, and promotes the application of basic human rights principles to policies affecting migrant communities.

10. The Washington Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights and Urban Affairs is a non-profit civil rights organization established to eradicate discrimination and poverty by enforcing civil rights laws through litigation. In furtherance of this mission, the Washington Lawyers' Committee has a dedicated Immigrant Rights Project, which has served as a critical resource for some of the most vulnerable populations in the Washington, D.C. area: newcomers and non-English speakers, who are often discriminated against on the basis of their religious background or national origin, and who are often unaware of their legal rights and protections.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

In promotion of their interests, amici respectfully submit this brief to advance a key argument in support of affirming the lower courts' rulings. Amici submit that the balance of equities and public interest weigh heavily in favor of enjoining President Trump's March 6, 2017 Executive Order, “Protecting the Nation From Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States” (the “Executive Order”), as the Executive Order improperly promotes social categorization and stereotyping that endangers the lives and well-being of individuals of the Muslim faith. The Executive Order is the product of several centuries of Muslim stereotyping in this country, and harms even those who are not the direct victims of specific attacks on immigrants. Here, the evidence demonstrates that, regardless of the Government’s post-hoc explanations, it was motivated by animus toward Muslims and singled out, as a proxy, those born in the targeted majority-Muslim countries.

ARGUMENT

Social Categorization and Stereotyping Creates Dangerous Conditions for Members of Minority Groups.

A. Stereotyping Minority Groups Creates a Climate for Discrimination.

The balance of equities and public interest in this case weigh in favor of enjoining the Executive Order due to the discrimination it promotes. As the U.S. courts have long recognized, laws such as the Executive Order promote social categorization and stereotyping of Muslims that lead to the endangerment of the lives of those who practice Islam, a minority religion.

The Court has repeatedly stated that discriminatory stereotypes can improperly affect decision making. Most recently, the Court recognized that disparate impact liability prevents segregated housing patterns that might otherwise result from the role of “covert and illicit stereotyping.” Texas Dep’t of Hous. & Cmty. Affairs v. Inclusive Communities Project, Inc., 135 S. Ct. 2507, 2522 (2015); see also Miller-El v. Dretke, 545 U.S. 231, 268 (2005) (Breyer, J., concurring) (recognizing that “subtle forms of bias are automatic, unconscious, and unintentional and escape notice, even the notice of those enacting the bias”) (citations omitted).

In Price Waterhouse, the Court recognized the role that sex stereotyping plays in employment discrimination cases, explaining that “stereotyped remarks can certainly be evidence that gender played a part” in an adverse employment decision. Price Waterhouse v. Hopkins, 490 U.S. 228, 251 (1989), superseded by statute on other grounds, Civil Rights Act of 1991, Pub. L. No. 102-166, 105 Stat. 1075.

Similarly, in Cleburne, the Court explained that “race, alienage, and national origin” are “so seldom relevant” to state interests, meaning that “such considerations are deemed to reflect prejudice and antipathy – a view that those in the burdened class are not as worthy or deserving as others.” City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Ctr., 473 U.S. 432, 440 (1985). In Griggs, the Court held that the “absence of discriminatory intent does not redeem employment procedures or testing mechanisms that operate as ‘built-in headwinds’ for minority groups and are unrelated to measuring job capability.” Griggs v. Duke Power Co., 401 U.S. 424, 432 (1971).

The circuit courts also recognize that social categorization and stereotyping can create fertile grounds for discrimination in areas such as housing, employment decisions, and police actions. See, e.g., Hassan v. City of New York, 804 F.3d 277, 306 (3d Cir. 2015) (rejecting “appeals to ‘common sense’ which might be infected by stereotypes” as insufficient to justify police surveillance of Muslim individuals, businesses, and institutions) (quoting Reynolds v. City of Chicago, 296 F.3d 524, 526 (7th Cir. 2002)); Ahmed v. Johnson, 752 F.3d 490, 503 (1st Cir. 2014) (finding “lack of explicitly discriminatory behaviors” does not preclude a finding of “unlawful animus” in employment discrimination because “unlawful discrimination can stem from stereotypes and other types of cognitive biases, as well as from conscious animus”) (quoting Thomas v. Eastman Kodak Co., 183 F.3d 38, 59 (1st Cir. 1999)); United States v. Stephens, 421 F.3d 503, 515 (7th Cir. 2005) (recognizing that racial stereotyping continues to play a role in jury selection and the outcome of trials); Thomas, 183 F.3d at 42 (holding that Title VII’s ban on “disparate treatment because of race” includes “acts based on conscious racial animus” and “employer decisions that are based on stereotyped thinking”).

Relevant research shows that a psychological triggering phenomenon known as “priming” exacerbates stereotyping and makes it more extreme.

Priming occurs when “subtle influences . . . increase the ease with which certain information comes to mind.” Richard H. Thaler & Cass R. Sunstein, NUDGE: IMPROVING DECISIONS ABOUT HEALTH, WEALTH, AND HAPPINESS 69 (2008). In the case of racial stereotyping, which shares many attributes with stereotyping of Muslims, priming an individual with race-based stereotypes can influence later decisions by that individual. Sandra Graham & Brian S. Lowery, Priming Unconscious Racial Stereotypes about Adolescent Offenders, 28 L. & HUM. BEHAV. 483, 489 (2004).

Social science research repeatedly demonstrates that individuals have a persistent tendency to defer blindly to priming from authority figures. See Stanley Milgram, Behavioral Study of Obedience, 67 J. ABNORMAL & SOC. PSYCHOL. 371, 375-76 (1963). Therefore, as the Court’s decisions in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, 347 U.S. 483, 493-94 (1954) and Loving v. Virginia, 388 U.S. 1, 8-12 (1967), demonstrate, discrimination with the sanction of law raises unique and particular dangers.

B. The Executive Order Is the Product of Centuries of Discriminatory Stereotypes About Muslims.

This country, ever since Colonial times, has had a long history of official stereotyping of Muslims as un-American and unworthy of becoming Americans. During the Colonial era, two of the most outspoken public figures who disseminated stereotypes of Muslims (then known as “Mahometans”) were Cotton Mather and Aaron Burr – they consistently referred to “Mahometans” in highly derogatory terms, including denouncing “that false Prophet and great Imposter Mahomet.”²

Even after this country became independent, prejudice against Muslims, as expressed through consistent stereotyping, continued throughout the nineteenth century and into the twentieth century.³ For example, in discussing immigration legislation in 1910, Representative Burnett of Alabama repeatedly referred to “Syrians” – then a catch-all term for Middle Eastern immigrants who were Muslims – in derogatory terms, and made clear that he and his colleagues viewed those immigrants as “the dirty Syrian[s] of today,” and among “the least desirable” aliens, because “the Syrians are the same way, mixed up with the Arabians and the people of African and western Asiatic countries, until they are not our kind of people; and they are not the kind of people from which those who settled this country sprang.”⁴ As set forth in Section C, infra, these are the same kind of statements recently made about Muslims.

² Thomas S. Kidd, AMERICAN CHRISTIANS AND ISLAM: EVANGELICAL CULTURE AND MUSLIMS FROM THE COLONIAL PERIOD TO THE AGE OF TERRORISM 12 (2009); Thomas S. Kidd, “Is It Worse to Follow Mahomet than the Devil?” Early American Uses of Islam, 72 CHURCH HISTORY 766, 771-73, 779-80 (2003).

³ See, e.g., Erik Love, ISLAMOPHOBIA AND RACISM IN AMERICA 41, 86-89 (2017); Jeffrey L. Thomas, SCAPEGOATING ISLAM: INTOLERANCE, SECURITY, AND THE AMERICAN MUSLIM 1-14 (2015); Peter Gottschalk & Gabriel Greenberg, Common Heritage, Uncommon Fear: Islamophobia in the United States and British India, 1687-1947, in ISLAMOPHOBIA IN AMERICA: THE ANATOMY OF INTOLERANCE (Carl W. Ernst ed. 2013); Robert J. Allison, THE CRESCENT OBSCURED: THE UNITED STATES AND THE MUSLIM WORLD 1776-1815 (1995).

In this century, the stereotyping of Muslims has continued unabated, leading to increased discrimination against Muslims, rising to the level of violence. Even prior to the Executive Orders in 2017, commentators documented and denounced the ongoing stereotyping of Muslims and the ensuing discrimination and violence.

Professor Perry recognized that “many commentators have suggested that Arabs generally and Muslims specifically may represent the last ‘legitimate’ subjects of slanderous imagery and stereotypes.” Barbara Perry, Anti-Muslim Violence in the Post-9/11 Era: Motive Forces, 4 HATE CRIMES 172, 176 (Barbara Perry & Randy Blazak, eds. 2009). Political leaders have an outsized impact in fostering this stereotyping and its ensuing discrimination and violence: “Even more powerful in providing justifications for anti-Muslim violence is the explicit exploitation of public images and related fears by political leaders. To the extent that this is so, there emerges a climate that bestows ‘permission to hate.’” Id. at 181. Thus, she concluded that:

⁴ HEARINGS BEFORE COMMITTEE ON IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, 61st Cong. 383, 386, 393, 396 (1910) (statement of Rep. John L. Burnett, Alabama).

[S]tate practices provide a context and a framework for the broader demonization and marginalization of minority groups. Through its rhetoric and policies, the state absorbs and reflects back onto the public hostile and negative perceptions of the Other – in this case, Muslims. Public expressions of racism by state actors are constituted of and by public sentiments of intolerance, dislike, or suspicion of particular groups. Thus, the state seems to reaffirm the legitimacy of such beliefs, while at the same time giving them public voice.

Id. at 185 (emphasis added).

Professor Aziz, who testified to Congress on this issue, wrote, “In the United States, numerous polls show a rise in anti-Muslim bias that is manifesting into tangible hate crimes, mosque vandalism, employment discrimination, and bullying of Muslim kids in schools.” Sahar F. Aziz, Losing the “War of Ideas”: A Critique of Countering Violent Extremism Programs, 52 TEXAS INT’L L.J. 255, 265 (2017).

Professor Cashin wrote that “Explicit, public anti-Muslim comments do not appear to engender similar widespread outrage” as do racist remarks, and instead “appear to be on the rise,” because of the lack of public rejection of such views. Sheryll Cashin, To Be Muslim or Muslim-Looking in America: A Comparative Exploration of Racial and Religious Prejudice in the 21st Century, 2 DUKE FORUM L. & SOC. CHANGE 125, 127-28 (2010). “In the wake of the 9/11 attacks, it is more socially acceptable to express explicit bias against Arabs or Muslims than against blacks or other racial/ethnic groups.” Id. at 132.

Muslim stereotyping has manifested in the form of violence against Muslims, or even those who are erroneously perceived as being Muslims (such as Sikhs). Although the serious under-reporting of such crimes causes the available statistics to understate the actual prevalence of anti-Muslim violence,⁵ it is well-documented throughout 2016,⁶ and continuing into 2017. See Section D.2, infra.

Thus, from Colonial times to the present, this country has had a long and deliberate political tradition of officially stereotyping Muslims – a history that created an atmosphere that legitimizes and encourages discrimination and violence against Muslims.

⁵ Todd H. Green, THE FEAR OF ISLAM: AN INTRODUCTION TO ISLAMOPHOBIA IN THE WEST 282-84 (2015) (discussing statistics on crimes against Muslims and problems with underreporting); see generally U.S. Dep’t of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics, Special Report, HATE CRIME VICTIMIZATION, 2004-2015 (2017) (noting problems with underreporting and different methodologies for categorizing these crimes); U.S. Dep’t of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics, Special Report, HATE CRIMES REPORTED BY VICTIMS AND POLICE (2005) (same).

⁶ See, e.g., Aziz, 52 TEXAS INT’L L.J., supra, at 266-68 & nn. 65-80 (collecting examples from 2015 and 2016 of violence against Muslims).

C. The Executive Order Is Based on Stereotypes About Muslims as “Anti-American” and “Terrorists.”

As in the cases cited above, the Muslim ban bears the imprimatur of the Executive Branch and engenders precisely the type of discriminatory harms that the Court has held cannot withstand constitutional muster. Since December 7, 2015, when then-candidate Donald Trump issued a written statement calling for a “total and complete shutdown on Muslims entering the United States” in the wake of the terror attack in San Bernardino, California, a “Muslim ban” has been a major item on his policy agenda.⁷ At that time, his campaign explained that “there is great hatred towards Americans by large segments of the Muslim population.” He also characterized a ban on Muslim entry into the United States as a way to stop our country from being the “victims of the horrendous attacks by people that believe only in Jihad.”⁸ He did so with no evidence other than extensive stereotyping.

Mr. Trump’s labeling of Muslims as “terrorists” has been relentless. On January 4, 2016, the Trump campaign premiered its first television advertisement, in which Trump “call[ed] for a total and complete shutdown of Muslims entering the United States” until doubts about “radical Islamic terrorism” can be “figure[d] out.”⁹ The link the Presidential candidate drew between “radical Islamic terrorism” and all individual Muslims entering the United States was stated with no supporting evidence. Subsequently, candidate Trump, in a major foreign policy speech on April 27, 2016, stated that “The struggle against radical Islam also takes place in our homeland. . . . We must stop importing extremism through senseless immigration policies.”¹⁰ Again, he made these statements, relying entirely on stereotypes, and presenting no evidence or facts to support these claims.¹¹

⁷ J.A. 179-180 & n.5 (Int’l Refugee Assistance Project v. Trump, 857 F.3d 554, 575-76 & n.5 (4th Cir. 2017) (en banc), cert. granted, 137 S. Ct. 2080 (2017)); see also Christine Wang, “Trump Website Takes Down Muslim Ban Statement After Reporter Grills Spicer in Briefing,” CNBC.COM (May 8, 2017), <https://www.cnbc.com/2017/05/08/trump-website-takes-down-muslim-ban-statement-after-reporter-grills-spicer-in-briefing.html>.

⁸ J.A. 179-180 & n.5 (Int’l Refugee Assistance Project, 857 F.3d at 575 n.5).

⁹ Jeremy Diamond, Donald Trump: Ban all Muslim Travel to United States, CNN POLITICS (Dec. 8, 2015), <http://edition.cnn.com/2015/12/07/politics/donald-trump-muslim-ban-immigration>; see also Jill Colvin and Steve Peoples, “Trump’s First TV Ad Pushes Proposal to Ban Muslims from Entering U.S.,” THE GLOBE AND MAIL (TORONTO), Jan. 5, 2016, at A9.

¹⁰ N.Y. TIMES, Transcript: Donald Trump’s Foreign Policy Speech (Apr. 27, 2016).

¹¹ Although President Trump has publicly labeled Muslims as dangerous “terrorists,” he has failed to condemn the hate crimes perpetuated against them over the past year. See, e.g., Jack Moore, Trump’s Failure to Condemn Minnesota Mosque Attacks Stirs Social Media Anger, NEWSWEEK (Aug. 17, 2017), <http://www.newsweek.com/trump-failure-condemn-minnesota-mosque-attack-stirs-social-media-anger-647694> (President Trump’s silence following a January 2017 shooting at a Quebec mosque, June 2017 attacks in Virginia and London, and an August 2017 bomb attack at a mosque in Minnesota).

Just one week after his Inauguration, President Trump acted to fulfill his campaign pledge. On January 27, 2017, he signed Executive Order 13,769, entitled “Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States.” 82 FED. REG. 8977 (Feb. 1, 2017). Among other immigration restrictions, Executive Order 13,769 temporarily banned all nationals from seven majority-Muslim countries from entering the United States: Iran, Iraq, Syria, Sudan, Yemen, Libya, and Somalia.

While many surrogates of the current Administration pushed back at the characterization of E.O. 13,769 as a “Muslim ban,” the President embraced it. He told the public via Twitter, “[c]all it what you want, [E.O. 13,769] is about keeping bad people (with bad intentions) out of country!”¹² Throughout his campaign, and now in office, President Trump has consistently labeled Muslims as “bad people” who must be kept out of America in the interest of national security.

After multiple lower courts enjoined enforcement of E.O. 13,769,¹³ the Trump Administration announced

¹² Jane Onyanga-Omara, British PM Criticizes Trump’s Travel Ban; Theresa May Calls Controversial Move “Divisive and Wrong,” USA TODAY, Feb. 2, 2017, at 5A.

¹³ Washington v. Trump, No. 2:17-cv-141, Temporary Restraining Order, 2017 WL 462040 (W.D. Wash. Feb. 3, 2017), motion for stay denied, 847 F.3d 1151 (9th Cir. 2017); Tootkaboni v. Trump, No. 1:17-cv-10154, Temporary Restraining Order, 2017 WL 386550 (D. Mass. Jan. 29, 2017); Darweesh v. Trump, No. 1:17-cv-00480, Temporary Restraining Order, 2017 WL plans to revise the order. On March 6, 2017, the Administration issued Executive Order 13,780, “Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States.” 82 FED. REG. 13,209 (Mar. 9, 2017). The revised Executive Order preserves several core provisions of the prior Order: it suspends the United States Refugee Admissions Program for 120 days, and it suspends the entry into the United States of nationals of six of the seven majority-Muslim countries designated in E.O. 13,769 for 90 days. See E.O. 13,780, §§ 6(a); 2(c). As did E.O. 13,769, the redrafted Order targets only majority-Muslim countries, as proxies for all Muslims.

The official action of marking a social group, Muslims, as a dangerous “fifth column,” drives societal biases against Muslims in this country. It creates conditions where violence against Muslims is seen as more acceptable because they are perceived, in President Trump’s words, to be “bad people.”

In 2011, the Pew Research Center surveyed Western cultures to determine which characteristics Western populations associate with people in the Muslim world. That survey found that about half of the 388504 (E.D.N.Y. Jan. 28, 2017); Aziz v. Trump, 234 F. Supp. 3d 724 (E.D. Va. 2017) (preliminary injunction).

respondents characterized Muslims as “violent,” and more than half characterized Muslims as “fanatical.”¹⁴

Thus, it is no surprise that the Pew Research Center’s 2017 survey of Muslims in this country found that discrimination against them was increasing, and that American Muslims are even more concerned in light of the President’s Executive Orders.¹⁵

In a recent news analysis discussing ongoing social science research relating to stereotyping against the most recent Muslim immigrants in this country and Canada, Science magazine recognized that “Prejudice of course can be directed against any group by any other. But immigrants, and even more so refugees and asylum seekers, may be especially vulnerable because of their tenuous place in a larger society.” Jennifer Couzin-Frankel, Battling Bias: How Can We Blunt Prejudice Against Immigrants?, 350 SCIENCE 687, 688 (May 19, 2017). This applies with even greater force to child immigrants and refugees, who are even more vulnerable than their parents. (The recent escalation of deportation orders similarly harms child immigrants and refugees.)

¹⁴ Pew Research Center, Global Attitudes Project, Muslim-Western Tensions Persist (July 21, 2011), <http://www.pewglobal.org/2011/07/21/muslim-western-tensions-persist/#>.

¹⁵ Pew Research Center, U.S. Muslims Concerned About Their Place in Society, but Continue to Believe in the American Dream (July 26, 2017) <http://www.pewforum.org/2017/07/26/findings-from-pew-research-centers-2017-survey-of-us-muslims/>; see also Abigail Hauslohner, Anti-Muslim Discrimination on Rise in U.S., Study Finds, WASHINGTON POST, July 26, 2017, at A3.

Recent social science research demonstrates both the already-existing climate of prejudice against Muslims and Arabs and the unconscious nature of that bias. “Non-Arab and non-Muslim test takers manifested strong implicit bias against Muslims. These results are in sharp contrast to self-reported attitudes.” Carol Izumi, Implicit Bias and the Illusion of Mediator Neutrality, 34 WASH. U. J. L. & POL. 71, 93 (2010). A “sample of U.S. citizens on average viewed Muslims and Arabs as not sharing their interests and stereotyped them as not especially sincere, honest, friendly, or warm.” Susan T. Fiske, et al., Policy Forum: Why Ordinary People Torture Enemy Prisoners, 206 SCIENCE 1482-83 (Nov. 26, 2004).

D. Government Legitimization of Muslim Stereotypes Has Encouraged Violence Against Muslims, and Inhibited Millions of Muslims in the Practice of Their Religion.

There can be no doubt that, given its origin and history, the Executive Order is based on the social categorization of Muslims as “anti-American,” “terrorists,” those with “hatred for Americans,” and “bad people.” In this case, President Trump’s repeated, unsubstantiated claims that Muslims are dangerous, and should be barred from entering the country, are just the “cue” needed to release otherwise suppressed and legally prohibited violence against Muslims. The President’s deliberate stereotyping of Muslims as “dangerous” and “terrorists” and his ban on the immigration of Muslims, place an official “imprimatur” on those stereotypes, magnifying their effect.

This Court, in Cleburne, held that a city council’s insistence that a group home for mentally impaired individuals obtain a special-use permit to operate was premised on unsubstantiated “negative attitudes or fears” of nearby property owners, which were impermissible bases for disparate treatment. City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Ctr., 473 U.S. 432, 448 (1985). Although “[p]rivate biases may be outside the reach of the law, . . . the law cannot, directly or indirectly, give them effect” Id. (quoting Palmore v. Sidoti, 466 U.S. 429, 433 (1984)). Here, too, the law cannot give effect to private biases against Muslims.

1. Government Stereotyping Leads to Violence and Discrimination.

When someone in a position of authority, as President Trump, categorizes Muslims as dangerous and terrorists, he communicates that Muslims are “outsiders” and not full members of the political community. By way of comparison, the Court found unconstitutional a school sponsored religious message, delivered over the school’s public address system, by a speaker representing the student body, under the supervision of the school faculty, and pursuant to a school policy. Santa Fe Indep. School Dist. v. Doe, 530 U.S. 290, 309-10 (2000). The Court’s reasoning was based on its view that the school policy created two classes of people – those who adhered to the favored religion, and those who did not. Id.

The President’s steadfast support of what he calls a “Muslim ban” similarly sends the message that those who adhere to Islam as their religion are not part of American society, as opposed to Christians and other non-Muslims, who are favored by the ban. In doing so, he “sends a message to non-adherents [to the Christian faith] that they are outsiders, not full members of the political community, and an accompanying message to adherents that they are insiders, favored members of the political community.” Lynch v. Donnelly, 465 U.S. 668, 688 (1984) (O’Connor, J., concurring). The Executive Order and the President’s statements characterize Muslims as homogenous and a national threat and thereby engender a climate conducive to violence against Muslims.

2. The President’s Statements Have Encouraged Violence.

This Administration has tolerated, if not encouraged, hate crimes against Muslims, through its determination to implement a travel ban affecting Muslims – in effect telling all Muslims (whether American-born or foreign-born) – that they do not belong here.

The February 22, 2017 shooting of Srinivas Kuchibhotla, Alok Madasani, and Ian Grillot in Olathe, Kansas is the most horrifying example of the social categorization of Muslims as enemies of the American people.¹⁶ Kuchibhotla and Madasani, two engineers at a local technology company, and both Indian immigrants to the United States, had gathered with co-workers at a bar near their office to watch a local college basketball game. Also at that bar was Adam Purinton, a 51-year-old U.S. Army veteran who mistook both Kuchibhotla and Madasani as Iranians (which is one of the nationalities targeted by the Executive Order and its predecessor as barred from entry into the United States). Purinton approached and shot at Kuchibhotla and Madasani, telling them to “get out of our country!” Kuchibhotla was killed, and Madasani was wounded. Ian Grillot, a patrolman present at the scene, was wounded while attempting to intervene. Purinton fled across the state border into Missouri and told a bartender in a second bar that he needed to hide out because he had just shot two “Iranians.” Putting aside Purinton’s stereotyped view that his victims were Iranians simply because they were foreign-born immigrants, his actions demonstrate the danger that social categorization can cause by exaggerating both the distance between in-groups (“real Americans”) and out-groups (“Iranians”), as well the homogeneity of the out-group.

¹⁶ Audra D. S. Burch, Facing a Void Left by Hate, N.Y. TIMES, July 9, 2017, at A1, A12-A13; Matt Stevens, Justice Dept. Calls Killing in Kansas a Hate Crime, N.Y. TIMES, June 10, 2017, at A18; John Eligon, et al., Drinks at a Bar, Ethnic Insults, then Gunshots, N.Y. TIMES, Feb. 25, 2017, A1, A17; see also United States v. Purinton, No. 2:17-cr-20028, Indictment (D. Kan. June 9, 2017).

The Administration's travel ban against Muslims does just that.

In addition, a rash of arsons and vandalism at mosques has plagued the United States following the issuance of E.O. 13,769. On January 28, 2017, one day after the first Order, a fire destroyed the Islamic Center of Victoria, Texas.¹⁷ On February 24, 2017, a blaze broke out in the entrance of the Daarus Salaam Mosque near Tampa, Florida.¹⁸ Combined with two arsons of mosques shortly before President Trump's inauguration, the United States has seen an unprecedented surge of hate crimes against the Muslim community.¹⁹

¹⁷ U.S. Attorney's Office, Southern District of Texas, Victoria Man Charged with Hate Crime in Burning of Mosque (June 22, 2017), <https://www.justice.gov/usao-sdtx/pr/victoria-man-charged-hate-crime-burning-mosque>; Anonymous, Fire Destroys Texas Mosque in Early Hours, N.Y. TIMES, Jan. 29, 2017, at A4; see also United States v. Perez, No. 6:17-cr-00035, Superseding Indictment (S.D. Tex. June 22, 2017).

¹⁸ Tony Marrero, Mosque Fire Deliberately Set, TAMPA BAY TIMES, Feb. 25, 2017, at 1; Anonymous, 2nd Florida Mosque Hit by Arson in Past 6 Months, ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, Feb. 25, 2017, at A6.

¹⁹ Albert Samaha & Talal Ansari, Four Mosques Have Burned in Seven Weeks – Leaving Many Muslims and Advocates Stunned, BUZZFEEDNEWS (Feb. 28, 2017), <https://www.buzzfeed.com/albertsamaha/four-mosques-burn-as-2017-begins>; Taylor Goldenstein, Blaze Completely Destroys Islamic Center's Building, AUSTIN AMERICAN-STATESMAN, Jan. 8, 2017, at B1.

Other recent attacks on mosques in the United States include an explosion at a mosque in Bloomington, Minnesota in August 2017.²⁰

On March 3, 2017, a Sikh man was shot in his Kent, Washington driveway when a man approached him and said “go back to your own country.”²¹

It is undeniable that the public interest in this country is best served by tolerance of different religions as the Constitution requires, and tolerance of both foreign-born and American-born adherents of different religions. The public interest is not served by discriminatory stereotyping against Muslims that legitimizes or encourages discrimination and violence in our country, or by a law which gives effect to private biases.

The insidious effect of the Muslim ban does not impact only those persons seeking to enter the United States from the seven designated countries. Instead, by promoting social stereotypes and priming individuals to act on those stereotypes, the ban creates fertile grounds for violence against all minorities. The Executive Order fundamentally threatens the ²⁰ Nick Corasaniti, Minnesota Mosque Shaken by an Early-Morning Blast, N.Y. TIMES, Aug. 6, 2017, at A19; Kurtis Lee, U.S. Muslims on Edge after Bombing; the FBI Is Leading the Investigation into an Attack that Damaged a Minnesota Mosque, L.A. TIMES, Aug. 6, 2017, at A10.

²¹ Ellen Barry, U.S. and Indian Officials Condemn Shooting of Sikh, N.Y. TIMES, Mar. 6, 2017, at A9; Cleve R. Wootson, Sikh Man, 39, Shot in Suspected Hate Crime, WASH. POST, Mar. 5, 2017, at A3.

American ideal of a diverse society working across divisions for the greater societal good.

3. Stereotyping and Discrimination Harms All Americans, Not Just Those Directly Affected by Specific Acts.

Social science research has consistently demonstrated that stereotyping of any group harms all individuals in that group, even those who are not directly affected by specific acts of violence or discrimination. For example, Professor McDevitt and several other researchers recognized that:

Because bias crimes have the unique impact of reaching far beyond the primary victim, due to the dimension of victim interchangeability, every member of the minority group who is aware of the crime is affected by a solitary crime against one individual minority member.

Jack McDevitt, et al., Consequences for Victims: A Comparison of Bias- and Non-Bias-Motivated Assaults, 45 AM. BEHAVIORAL SCIENTIST 697, 712 (2001).

Similarly, Professor Thomas recognized that violent crimes on the basis of religious stereotypes, i.e., against Muslims, have the same broader impact as do terrorist crimes:

Nonetheless, terrorism and violent hate crimes . . . have at least one basic characteristic in common: the violence inflicted on the victims is also aimed at a larger community. . . . hate crimes directly target individual members of a social group but indirectly send a message of intolerance to the entire group. The victims of hate crimes are selected because of their symbolic value as representatives of the entire social group.

Jeffrey Thomas, SCAPEGOATING ISLAM: INTOLERANCE, SECURITY, AND THE AMERICAN MUSLIM 137 (2015).

Senator John McCain recently recognized this fundamental principle when he criticized several fellow members of Congress who had made ad hominem attacks on a former government official due to that person's Muslim heritage:

When anyone – not least a member of Congress – launches specious and degrading attacks against fellow Americans on the basis of nothing more than fear of who they are and ignorance of what they stand for, it defames the spirit of our Nation, and we all grow poorer because of it.

158 CONG. REC. S5106 (daily ed. July 18, 2012) (statement of Sen. John McCain).

Here, too, the Executive Order and the underlying statements by the President have only encouraged stereotyping of Muslims, which has adversely affected all Muslims, young and old, natives and recent immigrants.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, and those set forth in the briefs of the Respondents, the amici curiae respectfully request that this Court affirm the judgments of the Fourth and Ninth Circuits.

Respectfully submitted on September 13, 2017,

LYNNE BERNABEI

Counsel of Record

ALAN R. KABAT

BERNABEI & KABAT, PLLC

1400 – 16th Street N.W., Suite 500

Washington, D.C. 20036-2223

(202) 745-1942

Bernabei@bernabeipllc.com

Kabat@bernabeipllc.com